

Privacy Statement

JADE Trading Group is committed to respecting our customers' privacy. This privacy statement describes what types of personal data we collect about our clients, how we use the data and how it is protected.

What type of data we store?

We store the data our customers have provided themselves when contacting us. Typically, this data includes name, e-mail address, phone number, address data, language, title and business sector of companies and their related contact persons. We also store buying history and business correspondences of our clients.

How we use the data?

We use the collected data to provide our services, including e-mail marketing via our JADE News, personalized offers and news, and archiving business correspondence. We use the language and location data to direct our customers to the Managing Director of JADE Group in the corresponding region. We share our customer data within our JADE Group of companies.

How we protect your privacy?

JADE Trading will never sell or give the collected customer data to any third party. In every e-mail marketing campaign there is a visible option to unsubscribe from the newsletter, and this can also be done any time by contacting us via e-mail at info@indmachinery.com. The persons and businesses who's data JADE Trading Group is keeping have the right to access the data, this can be done by contacting us via e-mail. Access to information regarding our customers is limited within our organization on a need to know basis. We also have taken appropriate technical measures regarding the data security of our stored information.